I don't believe the 7.5% rate increase should be approved as it is already hard enough for us who work and already have to scrape to get by to afford living. The cost of things are already high and to want to add another increase to raise our electric bills when a-lot of people already struggle to pay what they do now is baffling. The cost of living keeps raising higher and higher yet nobody's wages or salaries go up to support what companies want to charge and to afford the things we need to live. We have to decide do I pay this bill this month or do I pay that bill. Do i get groceries, gas to get to work or do i let my power get shut off. Rates are already high enough.
