As a person of faith who is deeply concerned about global climate change and the threat it poses to all life on Earth, I see installing renewable energy, especially solar, as something Vermonters can do that is a meaningful step in addressing the climate emergency. Everything that can be done to make this easier for homeowners, businesses, municipalities, schools, etc. - to encourage renewables in the state - is important to do. We need to be taking action as quickly as possible to avert the worst effects of global climate change. For this reason, I ask that you not weaken the current net metering rules. I strongly support them. Also, I believe that solar has benefits that haven't been included in the cost/benefit analysis. Please don't take any action that discourages solar; we need to be increasing in-state solar energy. Thank you.
