Good morning,

My wife and I are in our 60's and continue to both work full time jobs and are just barely getting along making sure our bills are paid.

My concern with this bill if it is moved forward we will not be able to stay in our home. We had to replace our furnace and hot water tank last year. We looked into heat pumps and with the price tag is something we just could not justify in purchasing. It was out of our price range and the furnace and hot water tank could not go through another winter.

I am not sure why VT has to be like California and be the first to work on forcing VT residents to purchase something they can not afford.

I think this needs to be looked into before forcing the middle class folks that can just barely survive force them from middle class to homeless.

If Vermont keeps up this trend up forcing change on the working class no one will be able to afford to live here anymore.

Thanks for making time in reading my email and before you let the bill go forward think about it could negatively affect our goal of retirement.

Sincerely,

Eugene Stevens
